

Dr. Satendra, a senior officer of Indian Forest Service, appointed as Director, SAARC Disaster Management Centre on 2 January 2012.

He obtained his M.Sc. in Applied Geology and Ph. D. from Delhi University on Himalayan Geotectonics and M.B.A. with specialization in Disaster Management from University of Hull, United Kingdom.

Dr. Satendra carries with him years of experience as Secretary in the Department of Disaster Management, Government of Bihar, a faculty in National Centre/ Institute for Disaster Management, Deputy Secretary with Ministry of Rural Development and Forest Fire division in with Ministry of Environment and Forest, Government of India. He worked as International Expert on Disaster Management and Climate Change with Food and Agriculture Organization in several countries. At present he is Executive Director – National Institute of Disaster Management, Ministry of Home Affairs New Delhi.

Dr Satendra has authored six books on Disaster Management, Forestry and related issues. One of his books was awarded by Department of Science and Technology, Government of India.